ALL NAVY TRAINING AT HAMPTON ROADS

Denby Recommends Abandonment of Other Atlantic Stations

IN INTEREST OF ECONOMY

This Would Mean the Elimination of Newport, R. I. Station—New England Senators Object to Move of Navy Department.

Washington, March 9.—Concentration at the Hampton Roads, Va., naval base of all naval training now done on the Atlantic coast and the abandonment of the Newport, R. I., station in the interest of economy was urged by Secretary Denby today before the senate naval committee.

Expected 42,000 Enlistments. The recommendation was presented by the naval secretary during a discussion of departmental plans in which he told the committee that enlistments of approximately 42,000 men were expected in the fiscal year 1923, due to changes in terms of service. He added this estimate was based on a navy of 96,000 men. Of those to be enlisted in the next fiscal year, the secretary said that 12,000 would be trained on the Pacific coast at Great Island and San Diego; 28,000 at Norfolk. If the proposed closing of the Newport station is agreed to, and about two thousand in special radio and airship work at the Great Lakes station, Chicago.

12,000 Men at Once. Discussing further the concentration of the training work at Hampton Roads, Mr. Denby told the committee that facilities already exist there for the training of about 12,000 men at one time, while at the Rhode Island station permanent arrangements are available only for 2,500 men. He further asserted that while temporary quarters were built at Newport during the war to care for 8,500 additional, no valid reason existed for the government paying two sets of overhead expenses.

Opposition Voiced. Several New England senators took issue with the secretary on the statement that a saving would result from the change. Senator Gerry, democrat, Rhode Island, declared the transfer only would mean that "very soon" entire new quarters would have to be built at Hampton Roads, since most of the buildings there were of war-time construction. Mr. Denby responded that the so-called temporary buildings at Hampton Roads could be utilized for many years to come. He went on to tell the committee that little trades schools equipment was held at Newport and that the cost of moving it to Hampton Roads would be small, while transfer of the Virginia base facilities to Newport would be prohibitive. Mr. Denby said, in reply to questions, that the department, however, had no thought of the transfer of the naval war college from Newport.

New York, March 9.—Two hundred Rosaries, personally blessed by Pope Pius XI, are Lenten gifts brought by John A. O'Dwyer, of Toledo, O., supreme director of the Knights of Columbus, who has just returned from Rome. EVACUATION STOPPED

Irish Government Halts Movement Because of Unemployment. Dublin, March 9. (By Associated Press).—Evacuation of the Haulbowline dock yards by the British has been ordered temporarily stopped by the provisional government. This step is taken because discontinuance of work at these yards would result in the immediate departure to England of a large number of skilled workers. It would also bring hurried unemployment to several hundred other unskilled men and would involve the scrapping of a valuable plant. The question of its final evacuation is under consideration.

ATTACKS BONUS BILL

Representative Knight Says He Will Not Vote for It.

Washington, March 9.—An attack on the soldier bonus bill was made in the house today by Representative Knight, republican, Ohio, who announced he would vote against it as "indisensible and patriotic standpoint." Mr. Knight declared, however, that efforts to defeat the measure would be futile.

"We shall not only fail in our opposition," he added, "but we will be misunderstood, and so far as it becomes possible for a class to organize and dominate congress that there will be few votes cast against the measure."

THERE MAY BE GHOSTS, BUT MARY'S SUSPECTED

Antagonish Spook Seems to Be Keeping Lent—Dr. Prince to Watch Girl

Caledonia Mills, N. S., March 9.—Antagonish folk are beginning to believe the notorious ghost that used to scare people in this valley must have given up noise making during Lent. Again last night nothing happened in the home that Alex MacDonald and his family deserted because they thought it haunted. All night Dr. Walter Franklin Prince, New York scientist, who came here to investigate the ghost story, lay with one eye open waiting for the spook to get funny with him. He didn't hear a sound or feel or see anything peculiar. Tonight—the third one since Dr. Prince arrived in search of the ghost—everything possible will be done to make the ghost feel as perfectly at home in the hope that it will not be able to resist the temptation to have a little fun. MacDonald and his wife and their adopted daughter, Mary Ellen, are coming back to sleep in the beds they said the ghost scared them away from. Other conditions under which the manifestations are said to have occurred also will be reproduced.

Dr. Prince has not said anything about it, but there are reasons for surmising that he intends to keep an eye on little Mary Ellen tonight. Not long ago the doctor let it be known that in all his experiences in trekking ghosts, the strange pranks that had frightened others always turned out to have had their cause in some human being which more often than not was a little boy or girl with playful tendencies.

Dr. Prince had a long chat with Mary Ellen yesterday during which he persuaded her to spend tonight in the house called haunted. MacDonald dropped around during the day to feed the cattle, as is his custom and he too, agreed to make another attempt to sleep in the place. The cattle spent a peaceful night and calmly chewed their cud this morning. When the ghostly alarms and excursions used to make the night hideous for the MacDonalds, the cattle often were found at dawn in the wrong stalls, with knots in their tails which no one would admit having tied.

Will Begin His Speaking Tour Next Saturday— Strikers Reported as Weakening in Pawtuxet Valley.

New York, March 9.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, will make a three days speaking tour of the cotton mill cities of New England, where strikes are in progress, it was announced today by Thomas F. McMahon, president of the United Textile Workers of America.

The tour will include Rhode Island, Massachusetts and New Hampshire and will begin next Saturday. Mr. Gompers is expected to come here from Washington, Friday, to confer with officers of the textile workers union, Mr. McMahon said.

Reported as Wavering. Providence, March 9.—The several mills in Arctic, R. I., one of several plants in the Pawtuxet valley owned by B. B. and R. Knight, Inc., were the scene of mass picketing this morning. Rumors that the plant was to reopen today had been circulated throughout the valley, but no attempt was made to resume operations. Mill officials announced yesterday that a canvass of the help revealed that from 50 to 60 per cent. were willing to return to work on the proposed schedule of a 20 per cent. reduction and a 54 hour week. Taking this announcement as indicating that the plant would open today, several hundred pickets were on hand shortly after 6 o'clock this morning. There were no troops about the premises and the local police had not been summoned. The mill is not far from the headquarters of the general strike committee of the Pawtuxet valley.

Elsewhere in the Pawtuxet and Blackstone valleys, everything was reported quiet today.

Clergy Takes Hand.

Providence, March 9.—In a message addressed to the state board of mediation and conciliation today the Episcopal clergy of Rhode Island urged the board to continue its efforts at bringing about settlement of the textile strike in the state. The board yesterday announced that it had abandoned present efforts to bring mill owners and strikers together.

Bishop James DeWolf Perry of the diocese of Rhode Island transmitted the resolution adopted by the Episcopal clergy to the state board.

TWO CONSTABLES IN WOODBIDGE ACCUSED

Coroner Holds Them Responsible for Fatal Shooting of Man on February 24

Waterbury, March 9.—Constables Clarence C. Mathewson and William H. Tompkins of Woodbridge, were held criminally responsible for the death of Antonio Sabia of Stratfield, by shooting on February 24, by Coroner John T. Monahan of this city today. Both the constables are in the jail at New Haven awaiting the coroner's finding.

The coroner has spent a number of days in examining the evidence and his finding is of some length. The constables went to Sabia's place to place him under arrest.

There were certain happenings which were not clear as to what caused the trouble but the coroner in his summary fixes responsibility for the death in these words: "I find said death was caused by the shot fired by Clarence C. Mathewson in an inebriated condition which was precipitated by William H. Tompkins in using excessive force to make an arrest for a misdemeanor and that said death was caused by the criminal act of said William H. Tompkins and Clarence C. Mathewson."

Hartford, March 9.—John Linnell of Manchester was sentenced to state prison for from six to ten years in the superior court by Judge Isaac Wolfe today on the charge of an assault upon Margaret Atkins of Manchester. State's Attorney Alcorn told the court that Linnell terribly beat the young woman, disfigured her possibly for life and attempted to otherwise misuse her. In his own defense Linnell admitted beating the woman but denied that he had any intent to violate her. He pleaded guilty to the assault portion of the charge, he said on advice of his counsel, but denied other allegations of the state. His counsel said that Linnell had drunk some concoction on the night in question and had no recollection of the assault.

"We have three thousand men in Kern county, and I am going there within the next few days and will personally conduct a campaign to turn up the evildoers." Proposed Service Certificates Will Not Be Security For Loans

If This Provision of Bonus Passes, U. S. Comptroller Will Warn All National Banks—House to Take

Washington, March 9.—Comptroller of the Currency Crissinger announced today that in the event of the enactment of soldiers' bonus legislation providing for payments by adjusted service certificates, he would advise national banks to decline to accept the certificates as security for loans.

Mr. Crissinger described the proposed plan of issuing adjusted service certificates for use by the soldiers if desired, as collateral for loans to eighty per cent of their face value, as "the worst kind of frozen credit," and declared while he would be without authority to order national banks to refuse to accept them as security he would strongly advise against their acceptance.

The certificates would be "non-negotiable paper," Mr. Crissinger explained, and loans upon them would load the banks up for the three year term which they cover with an unmovable mass of securities. The certificates would be similar to real estate loans which are not redeemable at federal reserve banks, he said, "and far from the liquid security best for the banks."

House leaders are making plans for that body to begin consideration of the soldier bonus bill on March 20, one week from next Monday.

Under the special rules, two-thirds majority is necessary to pass the bill, but the house leaders seemed to evidence no fear this afternoon that the votes would be lacking. Opponents of the bill objected to any rule that would prevent amendments, but Representative Mondell, republican leader of the house, said if this rule was not adopted, amendments designedly embarrassing could be submitted and the bill held up indefinitely under those tactics.

HEAVY BAIL FIXED IN BROKERS' CASES

Thefts aggregating $250,000 were said by Assistant District Attorney Wilson to be involved in the case against the three men. They are specifically charged with having bucketed orders and padding the payrolls of Alphonse Deschamps, Hartford, Conn. contractor, who claims to have purchased a brokerage business from Markelson and Friedman last January. Subsequently he employed them in the business.

Not long ago the Deschamps firm, operating here and in Montreal, went to the wall. Deschamps then appeared as complainant against the three men and they were arrested last week.

The policemen questioned the wife of Rapacki, and she admitted, they say, that she made moonshine for her husband. The woman had a small child in her arms, and as the husband works in a place at Plainville, the policemen did not make any arrests at the time. It is likely, however, that action will be taken by the authorities.

LABOR SITUATION IN THIS STATE IMPROVES

New Britain Is Especially Fortunate, Commissioner Reports

Hartford, March 9.—Deputy Labor Commissioner John J. Burke said today that the labor situation in Connecticut had improved 10 per cent. since last January and the improvement was continuing steadily. Mr. Burke puts the number of unemployed in the state at the present time at 80,000.

"It looks as though the improvement will be much better when spring opens. The outlook for employment is very encouraging. By the beginning of fall business will be running toward normal conditions," said Mr. Burke.

He said he based his opinion on the weekly reports of the factory inspectors given to the labor commissioner and on the reports of Special Investigator P. H. Connelly.

Mr. Burke said that owing to municipal agencies in some cities securing employment for residents the demand for help through the state employment agency was not so great as it would have been.

Mr. Burke said conditions in Hartford were better than in any other city in the state. In Bridgeport there is a very large number out of work but conditions in that city have improved. The number of unemployed there is 9,000. In January it had increased to 14,000. Mr. Burke said that the indications in Waterbury and in the Naugatuck valley were not so favorable as in other sections but there was great hopes for a revival. New Haven is second to Hartford in its recovery from industrial depression. In the eastern part of the state including New London and Norwich, business is very good in the textile industries but, said Mr. Burke there has been a little slackening up on account of the strikes in the mills in Rhode Island.

New Britain has been well taken care of by the city authorities and conditions there have improved.

FEW CITY EMPLOYEES WILL HAVE PAY CUT

Reduction in Force, Instead, Is Plan Now Favored

SEVERAL MAY LOSE JOBS

Five Policemen and Four Firemen Slated To Go If Present Plans of Boards Materialize—Early Action Expected.

Although the City Meeting board made provision for cuts in departmental salary lists which would appear to make imperative a 10 per cent. reduction in every salary, comparatively few cuts in pay will be made, but in almost every department reductions in the force will be made, if present plans are put into effect.

Police Dept. Affected. This condition will be true particularly in the police department. One of the commissioners in discussing the situation created by the Meeting Board's ruling, has stated that the cut proposed would seriously affect the efficiency of the department and that every effort will be exerted to avoid such a condition. To make possible a continuance of the present wage scale, it will be necessary to drop several members of the force. Plans for these changes are but tentative, but it is believed that the patrolmen to be retired will be the several supernumeraries who are now working regularly. In this group there are some six or seven who have worked night for several years.

The city meeting board in adopting the low tax budget, carrying with it a reduction of 10 per cent. in the salary lists, did not stipulate that every salary should be cut to that amount; rather, the boards were instructed to adjust salaries of their employees to come within the new figure set for personal services.

May Cut Out Bats. Should the police board act favorably upon the above proposition when it is submitted, it will mean that the amount of police protection afforded the city will be considerably reduced. It is possible that several beats will be done away with entirely while other patrolmen will be required to cover a greater expanse of territory.

This system is understood to have found favor with Chairman Emil Hjerpe in the fire department. It has been figured that it would be necessary to drop five policemen and four firemen to make possible the present wage scale with a 10 per cent reduction in the salary item.

Several departments in city hall that employ clerks, stenographers, etc., are planning similar reductions in their staffs. By doing away with one salary, it is reasoned that the amount of money saved will make it possible to come within the appropriation allowed in the new budget.

No Resignations Yet. In almost every instance the decision of the board was taken with as much disfavor as was the proposition as originally introduced by the board of finance and taxation. As yet, however, there have been no resignations nor reports of employees planning to quit at an early date, and departmental heads say they anticipate none.

HANGS SELF IN JAIL

Man Held in New Haven on Burglary Charge Takes Own Life While Guard is Away.

New Haven, March 9.—Daniel Herasovich, 32, held in jail for a hearing on a burglary charge, hanged himself in his cell early today during the time the guard was on his rounds in another part of the building. The man was arrested a few days ago after Joseph Sokol, a florist in the Westville section, had reported an attempted burglary at his house. Sokol tried at the man who was later caught. Herasovich told a story of having been pursued by men who had been making whiskey. His case was continued until Saturday, but the police had reached the conclusion that Herasovich was not right mentally, as they could find nothing to confirm stories he had told of bootlegging enterprises. The man leaves a wife and three children.

Later the peanut was removed.
